Guidance on the Preparation of a Risk Assessment by Trade Stands

A Risk Assessment is put together to show that you have considered what could go wrong, and if appropriate have taken steps to reduce the risk of it happening and/or have a plan on how to respond if the worst happens. The more things on your list, the more it shows you have thought things through.

So the first job is to list potential Hazards. Consider:

- Does your stand contain any potentially Hazardous items? (Hazardous either to the Public OR your staff/helpers). Such as:
 1. Hot/Cold surfaces
 2. Sharp items (Knives, axes, saws etc.)
 3. Animals (that may bite, pass on fleas, cause allergic reactions etc.)
 4. Possible poisons (inhaled dust etc.)
 5. Machinery (even non-working), which could trap limbs or clothing.
 6. Electricity (including batteries)
- Could people in or around your stand slip and/or trip?
 1. On wet grass
 2. Over guy ropes
 3. Uneven ground (rabbit holes)
- Could unexpected weather cause problems?
 1. Blow the stand or part of it onto people
 2. Rain collecting on the roof
 3. Excess Heat or Cold.
 4. Too crowded because of people sheltering
- Does your stand have unusual problems because of:
 1. Too near trees
 2. Direct Sunlight.
 3. Too steep a slope(Or any other similar problem of which the organisers should be aware).
- How would you respond if an animal (Horse, cow, sheep, hen, ferret etc.) escaped and hid in your stand?
- How would you respond if a customer had a medical emergency (Diabetic fit, Heart Attack etc.)?

Making this list is the most important aspect. Next people usually allocate a “frequency” score and a “Seriousness” score to each hazard. The ‘frequency’ could be:

1. Happens at least every couple of shows.
2. Often happens once every few years
3. Never been known to happen to me.

And ‘seriousness’ could be:

1. Death or serious injury
2. First Aid case
3. Inconvenience.

You then multiply ‘frequency’ by ‘seriousness’ to give a figure for ‘Risk’. You then make a decision that (for instance) everything with a ‘Risk’ factor of 4 or less will be looked at with a view of risk reduction and above 4 will be regarded as not requiring action at the moment.

Remember that the Show does have qualified paramedics on duty on the showground, but you shouldn’t be relying on them or your Public Liability Insurance to get you out of any trouble.
